Many remarkable escapes are chronicied. A year old babe was found on the outskirts of the ruins entirely divested of clothing, but uninjured. M. F. Mullen and family and five neighbors sayed themselves by going into a cyclone cave, but their homes were completely demolished. Many of the dead were found long distances from their residences and standing houses had boards driven through them by the force of the wind. Trees in the path of the storm were stripped even them by the force of the wind. Trees in the path of the storm were stripped even of the bark and nothing escaped injury. Pomeroy was a thriving town of a thousand inhabitants.

Governor Boies, after a personal examination of the ruin wrought by the storm, tenight issued a proclamation to the people of lowa calling for prompt and liberal aid.

te seriously injured are: R. and Mrs. W. E. CLEMENS.

The list of dead is still incomplete. Reports are coming from the country and the number of dead will be swelled to at least 82. Tonight the scenes around Pomerov are heart rending. In the old postoffice building dead bodies are being gathered and as friends come to identify them the scene is beyond the power of the most graphic pen to picture. Many bodies are literally torn in two, others with pieces of boards thrust through them, heads are mashed, limbs torn off and some so budly disfigured that they can only be recognized by clothing or some trinket.

several houses wrecked are yet unheard from.

The cyclone was followed by a heavy rain storm, passing very near the city of Cherokee, which, however, experienced a heavy rain and hall storm. Some of the hallstones were as large as turkey eggs. To show the velocity of the wind, an iron cylinder in a threshing machine was torn out and carried twenty rods.

WORST IN HISTORY.

The Sloux Valley Has Been Very Unfortunate.

LEMARS, Is., July 7.-Advices from the storm stricken district east of here confirm the reports already sent by the Associated Press from Fonda and elsewhere. At Pomeroy, the bodies re-covered up to 7 o'clock numbered thirty-five and over 190 are known to be injured. Coffins and help have been ordered from Cherokee and towns west. The storm Coffins and help have been ordered from Cherokee and towns west. The storm started in the south part of Cherokee county, crossed the Onawa branch of the H-linois Central at Quimby where there were several injured and two or three Killed. From Quimby it passed through the country region until it struck the main line at Pomeroy. Crops and farm houses were swept away along its course. The Stoux valley has been unfortunate, being swept nearly every year by flood, cyclone or hard storm. Last night's cyclone was the worst of the lot.

Justice Samuel Blatchford passed quietly and peacefully from earth at 7:20 this evening. He retained consciousness until an hour or two before death. There was no sudden change in his condition, simply a gradual slipping away, which has been taking place for the past week. Arrangements for the funeral are not yet completed but the body will probably be taken to Washington for interment. For many sensons he has been a quiet visitor to this city during the summer season and while not greatly given to society following he was frequently entertained in the first families.

IMPORTANT LAND DECISION. The Celebrated "Guilford Miller Case" Ruled Upon.

Washington, July 7.—The celebrated "Guilford Miller case," which involves the rights of so many settlers on railroad grants, has received an official ruling upon a motion for review in the case of Charles Coll vs. the Northern Pacific company, which involves the ruling of the department in the case of the Northern Pacific vs. Guilford Miller, and in which counsel for the railroad company asked that the decision in the Guilford Miller case be reversed. Secretary Hoke which counsel for the railroad company to asked that the decision in the Guilford Miller case be reversed. Secretary Hoke Smith has affirmed the decision of the Smith has affirmed the decision of the department heretofore rendered in the last named case, so far as it held that statutory withdrawal provided for by the sixth section of the act of July 2, 1885, to the Northern Pacific Railroad company upon filing a map of the general route, became effective in Washington territory. When the map of July 30, 1870, was filed and approved and said withdrawal once exercised thereby exhausted it and could not be repeated.

The secretary holds that his second filing made Feb. 21, 1872, in said territory, is without validity or sanction of law, either as to executive or legislative with drawal. He further held that the map of July 30, 1870, then the territory of Washington, was, as shown by the certificate of the chief engineer of the company, the result of surveys and explorations made for the purpose of determining the proper location of the road and approved and said withdrawal once exercised thereby exhausted it and could not be repeated.

The secretary holds that his second filing for a tax on bourse transactions.

FEATURES OF THE BILL.

It Represents the Minimum That the Government Will Accept.

The Galleries Wers Crowded-Many Prominent People Were Present Who Frequently Applauded the Chancellor's Address,

BERLIN, July 7 .- The new reichstag ssembled this morning. Chancellor Von Caprivi in a long address Introduced nded army bill. He said it represented the minimum the government would accept in either men or money, and were the lowest possible, consistent with the safety of the empire. The galleries were crowded, and many prominent people were present. Chancellor Ca privi's speech was frequently interrupted current there that a revolution has broken out in Australia and that country has declared its independence. The Associated press has no intelligence indicating any been led to believe that German had lost been led to believe that Germany had lost confidence in herself and the countries comprising the German empire were no longer united. This the chancellor declared was erroneous and should be quickly dispelled by the adoption of the budget for the financial year of 1833-3. The annually recurring expenditure was fixed at 64,000,000 marks and when the new system should have been fully developed, Germany would have in times of war a trained army of 4,400,000 men. Those proposals of the government, the chances flor added, did not meet with the approval of the house and in attempting to fix the measure it would be acceptable to the reichstag if the government had accepted the suggestion of Von Huens and incorporated it in the bill withdrawing its own demands on points on which a compromise was effected.

The suggestion of Von Huene was that the peace effective should be increased by 50,000 men at once and in the course of the next three years be raised gradually the government and seek strength through foreign division.

Liebknecht, the well known social democratic leader, said the government did not want to increase the army because of fear of Franco or Russia, but to fortify itself against the German people. (Cries of "shame.")
